SORG Corporate Forum on New Procedures in Non-Augmentative Preprosthetic Rehabilitation @40th SFOMK Congress on Tuesday, May 03, 2022 from 13.00 to 17.00 h

Faculty:

Nils-Claudius Gellrich, MD, DMD, Hanover, Germany

Hendrik Terheyden, MD, DMD, Kassel, Germany

Thomas Starch-Jensen, DDS, Aalborg Universitetshospital, Denmark

Introduction:

Patients with atrophic jaws and jaw defects after ablative tumor treatment and post-traumatic and congenital jaw deformities can be successfully rehabilitated by bone augmentation techniques and osseointegrated dental implants. Digitization and rapid prototyping technologies have enabled a new non-augmentative preprosthetic surgical treatment approach: Preprosthetic Individual Patient Solutions (IPS®). Unlike the old subperiosteal implants, these implants are additively manufactured from 3D imaging data and have a “one fit only” design with an unsurpassed primary stability due to rigid fixation. The course will introduce the innovation and report first experiences over four years.
